Trainings for Refugees/Asylum-seekers on Reproductive Health and Refugee Rights

Durable solutions for refugees in Turkey are limited with resettlement to a third country. The waiting periods for resettlement to a third country are long. HRDF, with the support of UNHCR, developed a training program for refugees living at the satellite cities in Turkey waiting for the decision about their statuses.

The trainings were initially implemented in Nevşehir and Aksaray and was repeated in Van after two years. The trainings contained modules on reproductive health, personal hygiene, woman's rights, refugee rights, and third country practices. The participants of the trainings were asylum seekers and refugees who resided in Turkey until statuses or/and resettlement options were clear. Almost 400 asylum seekers and refugees participated at the training programs which were provided in Arabic and Persian languages. Apart from trainings, asylum seekers and refugees were supported to access education and health facilities in their temporary residence provinces.

Objective _____

To provide trainings and social support to asylum seekers and refugees in three satellite cities.

Support to Asylum- Seekers and Refugees in Eskisehir, Bilecik and Kutahya

Refugees in Turkey are referred to satellite cities that are designated by the Ministry of Interior during their waiting periods in Turkey. Most of the times, these people are left without any support in these provinces where the local administrations and institutions are unaware of the needs of this new community in their city. HRDF's social workers started to provide social assistance for the asylum seekers and refugees residing in three of these satellite cities in 2007. The primary aim of the project was to mitigate the vulnerability of the target population and to strengthen the local social support. HRDF's social workers worked with translators and assisted the target population to access the health and education services as well as other support services while advocating for the rights of the refugees at local and national platforms.

Objective _____

To provide counseling to the refugees and asylum seekers to promote their rights and to facilitate their access to the services they are entitled to in the satellite cities, namely Eskişehir, Bilecik and Kütahya.
